A reader recently wrote in asking Green Building Insider how to register a project with LEED. Many AEC industry professionals are talking about green buildings and LEED certification, but for the contractor or architect just entering the green building circus, the process can be intimidating. So, we asked contributing writer Stephanie Aurora Lewis to track down the answer. Her article, "LEED Certification: Where Do I Begin?" is this month's feature story.

Do you have a question about green building? The editors at Green Building Insider would like to know. Send us an e-mail at editor@wpl.net or drop by our new discussion forums and post your questions there.

If you missed last week's webinar on the hidden risks of green building, it's not too late to get the valuable information presented during the 90-minute discussion. A recording of the webinar, including the slide presentation, is available at <http://tinyurl.com/ya4lcb5>.
